Here's an update

The WWW.BWWest.org is up and running! Beverlywood West homeowners now have another tool with which they can find BWW-tailored information. See the article below Welcome to BWWest.org. At the August 16th Board meeting several notable items were approved: The Recreation Building will receive some touchup paint in the areas patched during the repiping; the large room which once served as the gym and project room, and most recently as the break room for the gardeners, will be renovated and will be available for homeowner use once again; now that the sewer repairs have been completed, bids have been requested to repair the asphalt pavement and painting of the curbs. Finally, you should all have a copy of the Reserve Study and Financial Statement Audit which you can review from the new furniture in the Lounge (also known as the Card Room).

Community Planting of the Sequoia Grove

On Saturday July 9th Patrick Newall with other Landscape Committee members led a group of volunteer gardeners including: Katherine Newall, Gerry and Yvette Stern, Diane Maltzman, Malcom and Sandy Heib, Jacquelynn Finney, George Haynes, Emelie Gerard, Kate Bonser and Jeremiah Morris, Lara Embry and Sally Behar in planting Japanese Boxwoods, Asparagus Meyers Ferns, Tasmanian Ferns, Deer Ferns, and Calla Lillies, in the Sequoia Grove.

PROJECT UPDATES

Sewer – Will it ever end? The manhole that was thought to be buried behind Building 10 turned out to be a huge clump of roots; it was excavated and repaired. A major repair was also completed on South Drive for the line servicing the Recreation Building. Finally, “Poppers” pressure release cleanouts were installed. So, sewer backups are history.

The Recreation Building – the following repairs have been completed or are planned to be upgraded in the future: the kitchen window was replaced; the room behind the ping pong room will receive patching, new doors and paint. Painting over the patches left by the plumbing was also approved will be occurring this month.

FREE SONY STUDIO TOURS

A limited number of tickets are available to Culver City residents and business people at the Culver City Chamber of Commerce 4249 Overland Avenue. Tours will be conducted Monday through Friday, three times daily from September 6 to November 23, 2005, during normal studio hours. Each walking tour lasts about two hours. In addition to visiting the historic studio lot, you will have an opportunity to shop in the Studio Emporium for souvenirs and refreshments.

Once you have your tickets, reservations are required. Call the telephone number on your ticket to reserve your date and time.

Children over 12 are welcome. Limit 4 tickets per person.

WWW.BWWEST.ORG

Owners and residents, we now have a website. Type WWW.BWWEST.org into your browser and you are there! The website will have all the stuff that is currently at the Yahoo Group site, but it has a lot more room to expand and it is easier to navigate the pages. Our web host includes unlimited forwarding e-mail addresses. Several e-mail addresses have already been setup. For example, the President of BWW can be reached at President@BWWest.org and our Management Company, Classic, is at Management@BWWest.org, if you are interested in your own Free BWWEST.org forwarding e-mail address go to the website and fill out the request form.

Movie Night!

The Social/CIAO committee is starting a BWW Film Discussion group. For those interested in joining us, we will be screening "Hotel Rwanda" in the party room on Monday, September 19 at 7:00pm with discussion following afterward.

Drinks and movie snacks will be provided for this debut.

Anyone interested in participating should RSVP to Anne at (310) 842-8195.

All About Squirrels

Beverlywood West is home to people, their pets and squirrels. The variety of squirrel at our complex is a tree squirrel.

There are two species of tree squirrels that are native to California. In addition, there are two species of introduced tree squirrels that now inhabit our state. The tree squirrels that are most likely to be encountered in Los Angeles County are the Western Gray Squirrel and the Eastern Fox Squirrel.

How Do I Know If I Have Tree Squirrels?

The Western Gray Squirrel is about 22 inches in length with a large bushy tail edged in white. The coat can run from a "salt and pepper" to a silvery gray above to white below. They weight in at between 1.5-2 pounds and lack any stripes, spotting, or flecking common to ground squirrels.

Eastern Fox Squirrels are the largest of the North American squirrels and can grow to 29 inches in total length.

It too has a bushy tail, but with a somewhat square head and weighs in at three pounds. They can vary greatly in color, but commonly have a light brown coat above to a reddish or orange underside.

As is the case with all true tree squirrels, both of these species lack internal cheek pouches and when frightened climb trees to take shelter. Tree squirrels as their name implies are primarily found in trees, but can spend a considerable amount of time foraging on the ground. All are only active during the day, and do not hibernate. Tree squirrels like to nest in the cavities of trees, often enlarging the old holes of woodpeckers or flickers. They may also construct nests of twigs, shredded bark, and leaves in a crotch or on a large tree branch.
